Heavy wind came up in the night relieving us after the heat of the last two days (~~between~~ max. bet. 109 and ~~110~~ 110 Fahr.) Came up in the launch against the wind and got a wetting from the heavy spray flying from the bows. By bringing the diary to Barkal to be written up, we are now able to get away from the House about 6:30 A.M. We leave here about 5 or 5:15 P.M.

At 800 we cleared away the late floors (apparently surfaces of decay) in 801. Under there was the deposit of drift dirt in which was found the head (in the S.W. quarter of the room).

Fragments of inscription - good work
