

(Feb. 22)

(26)

some nodules (manganese?) such as are found in sandstone, etc. Also a frag of bluestone, inscribed [DRAWING: hieroglyphs] Thothmes IV (or an Aithiopian king of same name??).³³ These are all in loose debris. As no walls were appearing in a' and b', I called over the two Egyptians from a' and b' and put them in to help Moharrib clear the wall in d'. The wall seems to continue [ARROW] NWest about 2-3 m.; but I doubt whether it belongs to any building. As c' is near d', continued work there trenching in to E.

(8)

Worked westward towards Pylon in trench A. Goes slowly as the mass of fallen stones is very hard packed and the "carry" is very long.

[DRAWING]

³³ 16-2-134; Dunham 1970:67, Fig. 19 (on p. 26), Pl. XXIV; Published as Tuthmosis IV