The name of Anlaman in the doorway leading towards the Aspalta apartments is clear but the rest of the inscription was too dusty to make out. The work (painting etc. of cols) is as Aspalta's rooms. The fact that the names of Anlaman and Aspalta occur in this building supports my conclusion that Anlaman was the son of Aspalta. Both the Anlaman and the Aspalta apartments were burned down, probably in the same conflagration.
