

(April 12)

(64)

descends to the chamber and is either natural or dug by a second set of plunderers. Perhaps the caving in of the roof left a hole above which attracted the attention of the second set of plunderers and led them to descend through the caved in hole. Ordered the men to clear out the drift dirt in front of the chapel.

[DRAWING]

--hole infilling, first plunderers

--caved in hold, second plunderers

[DRAWING]

--hole 2

--hole 1

assumed condition of interior judging by surface above and by debris in doorway.

Pyr. VII stair seems to show the chamber to be completely plundered.