

(Feb. 17)
(22)

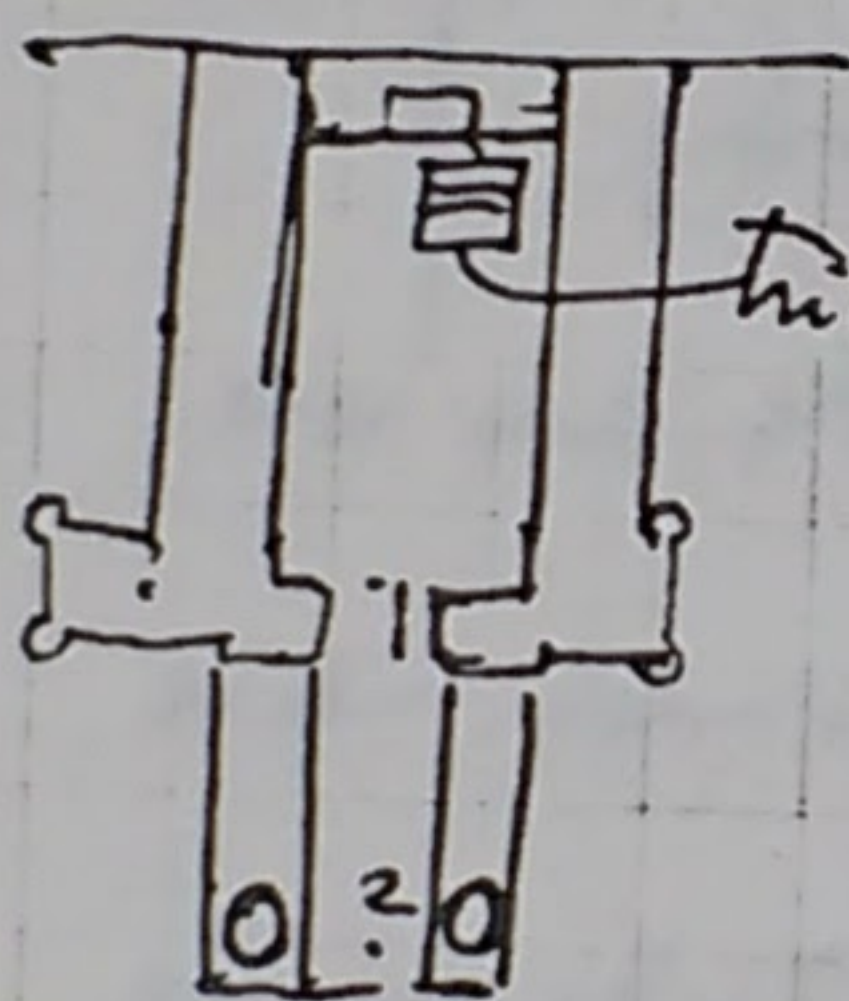

(2)

Work on chapel and stair 123
of Pyp. VI. The roof was preserved in Cailliaud's time see Test Vol. I p. 208.
The figures shown Pl. LV 3, 4 are still there preserved of less than $\frac{1}{2}$ the height.
Many painted frags. in the debris.

(3)

~~Work on stair~~

Here again, frags. of cols. ~~show~~ and two walls in front of chapel indicate a vestibule. In front of the N end of chapel a better triad lies on its back.

See also Cailliaud
I p. 206

Probably came from hole in wall.

N.B. → above 1st step, a large jug (see above under ①).
Stair - hard red debris. In debris seen

(3)

Work on Pyp. VII. This pyp. was noted by Cailliaud but was a mere ruined heap in his day. ^{debris on the lower part of the} The mound is covered with debris and appears old.
The stair has hard red debris and is of fair size.

(4)

Work on stair of Pyp. VIII. Appears very large. Hard red debris except at N end which is filled with laminated drift.