In the end of trench C' (at X'), found ~~the~~ ^{the} lower part of ~~small~~ statuette (original H. ca 60 cm.)
of blk. granite, - a seated figure, long garment,
 "Bek-en-wes".

Loc. on both sides and down front of garment.

There are also several battered frag. of sandstone
statuettes:

- ① head with
- ② " and shoulders of Amun (rem. headless)
- ③ basis of a seated figure (whole) H ca 20 cm.
- ④ " " " " " H ca 40 cm. (work
- ⑤ similar to Pp. triads.

The portico in front of the Pylon was elevated
on a platform with foundation walls to bear the cols. H. ca. 2 m. above the "gebel".

- ③ Bldg 200 trench X. Following the surface of the alluvial mud → E we found traces of a heavy stone pavement. We are here without doubt in the middle of a temple, probably not a part of 700. It is impossible to find a dumping place in this part and trench X must be abandoned. The building must be attacked from a different quarter.
