

(April 12)

(69) to go on down. A break in the wall on the R. side appears to mark a stairway.

(3) Clearing 506 to 520 and on the U. side of 504. The evidences of the plan of the older building become clearer. Very little is found in the debris,--frags. of statuettes, fai. potsherds (some extremely late [Christian]). in 514, frag. of an obelisk.

(4) At Nuri, found work on VIII brought to a standstill. The roof of the first room was found to have collapsed anciently. Thus the fact that we found the room filled to the roof was explained. The ends of the walls (U and D) and the walls beside the door are inscribed. It is necessary to go down to the chamber from above. On the G side of the chapel I had observed a hole filled with drift dirt, but had assumed that it was shallow. In view of the present development, it now seems clear that this hole
