excavation. The hard debris under this which we mistook for rock (gray sandstone) proves to be the original filling.
We have not yet reached the ~~the~~ southern end of the stairway nor revealed any of the steps. It seems about 20 m. long.

Temple aa. (Temple 100)

Room 102 is nearly finished (top meter of debris only, taken out). The entrance from 101 is not in the axis. The east and west entrances are in the axis. The N entrance is in the NW corner, leads to a corridor. Six cols. (one missing).

There appears to be a similar room on the east of 102.
