Saturday

72 day
of work

Work on ① R. side of 900; ② 503; ③ 519, G. corner; ④ Nuri.

- ① Having photographed the mud-brick rooms with high floors which lie just to R. side of 905, proceeded to cut out floors without disturbing walls.
- ② Clearing 503. Older walls appearing underneath and on N. side, older foundations one of which consisted of blue-glazed tiles. In general the Lepsius plan is more correct than Gailliard's but ~~is~~ ~~for~~ we are ^{now} able to ~~give~~ replace it by a plan which takes account of the chronology of the temple.
Of the bases between the ~~last~~ cols. in 503, only one is still in place. It is of badly weathered red sandstone. In the N. side of 503, is a curious cap-stone with decorations (reliefs) in relief and the name of (Bengal Burial No. 182) Adalat

Bouriant
