

(March 25)

(54th day)

by a stair of two steps. [DRAWING] Built of masonry and plastered (cement) top and sides.

In the U. wall in the G. corner an inscribed stone is built into the second course from below (inscript. upside down).

[DRAWING: hieroglyphs] Thothmes (or Piankhy?). Cf. Thothmes on p. 115 [p. 214 in this pagination]

(3)

Clearing front of 600. Mass of dirty debris mixed with mud and broken mud bricks, stones, etc. This disturbed stratum runs [?] under 601. Under this stratum and directly in front of 601, in the red sand bank, was a shallow burial, contracted [?] on right side head GD (due West) (West is locally called East ac't⁵³ of river). If C [?]-group people were also confused by flow of river, the burial was C-group orientation as well as position. The grave was filled with clear red sand and ⁵³ "on account of".